The trio has been touring together since 2007. They are well established musicians with extensive profile and each member enjoys a distinguished and varied musical life with an impressive list of personal achievements.

The musical approach the trio follows is open with a strong reference on groove. The material is mostly original as well as reworked standards with a new twist, and with refreshingly quirky arrangements.

During the last tour (March 2011) the trio decided to record their first album, a decision made due to the natural chemistry between the three musicians.
