This Norwegian duo takes the listener into a world of sound that moves between the continuous and the meditative and the fleeting and fragmented. Their scraping, thundering, trembling and tinkling sounds surround the listener. They create a three-dimensional sound image where the focus is on the very sound and the timbre of it, and where the more continuously colourful phrases may develop into rhythmically suggestive intervals.

For those who have everything is the duo’s first album and it consists of 5 free improvised pieces. The duo has been working on making the improvisations as clean and clear as possible, with a focus they mean the music to need.

For the sixth piece they decided to collaborate with the Portuguese composer and sound designer Maria Castro. She got sent the files from a couple of improvisations and had the freedom to re-compose them into one new piece, by tweaking the original sound, adding new electronics and re-phrase the original playing.

TRACKLISTINGS
1. Stumbling Ritual
2. Anxious Eagle
3. Flickering Flame
4. The Fidget
5. Endorphin
6. Søvngjenger

Improvisations by Kolbeinsen/Evensen.
Søvngjenger re-composed by Maria C. De Castro.
Recorded and mixed by Terje Evensen at Stereo, Oslo.
Mastered by Espen Berg at Living room Studios, Oslo.
Produced for FMR by Trevor Taylor.
Cover photo by Maria C. De Castro.
Cover layout by Ewan Rigg.